Women with Claims—She dresses herself with care; she is sure that her garments have the stamp of style, that her hat is becoming, and that the fluffy curls on her forehead are kept exactly in the right place by the pretty dotted veil. If her hand is especially pretty the right glove is withdrawn, if not the gloves are retained in all the freshness and smoothness of newness. She has previously arranged with some member for an interview. He comes in answer to her card; they chat and laugh a minute, then he is dispatched for some one to whom she wishes an introduction. The three have a pleasant little talk, then No 1 takes his leave, and No 2 sits down to hear the story the lady has to tell. If No 2 is a new man, unused to the ways of fascinating women, he goes back to his desk with a promise to at least call at the lady's residence. She will see that his call is a tete a tete; he will fancy himself specially favored, and when my lady finds an hour coming which is assigned to some other victim she will secure his going so politely and kindly that he is fairly bewitched and bound to vote for her bill anyway. So Delilah goes through the list of available men day after day securing through personal fascinations an attention rarely accorded more worthy applicants. I shall not soon forget noticing a royally beautiful woman at one of the President's receptions last year, and asking who she was, received for answer, "Beautiful, of course, but she has a claim and wise men avoid her vicinity."—*Anna S. Limited Bliss—A Chinaman walked into the county clerk's office at Eureka recently and inquired, "How muchee one mally lisence?" "Five dollars," replied the clerk. This exorbitant charge for a marriage license struck the Chinaman "all in a heap," and he turned away in disgust. But as he reached the door a bright idea seemed to strike him and he came back and whispered, "How muchee one month?" It was explained that the statute would not permit the issuance of such a document for a shorter period than "all e time," and the door closed upon him and his disappointment.—S. F. Post

The Coal Journal says that an American professor has devised a very formidable apparatus. It consists of a small drum, with a very delicately sensitive elastic skin stretched over it. A stream of gas passed through this drum will burn as usual till some one begins to sing near it, when the flame, under the influence of the vibrating skin, commences to shake in a manner which is varied indefinitely according to the notes of the tune, so that under certain conditions it will be possible to photograph those movements of the flame, and this, of course, will be equivalent to photographing the tune.

On [illegible] Saturday, says the Corvallis Democrat, the Willamette river at this place began to rise, and on Sunday morning was rising at the rate of six inches per hour, which it continued to do until some time on Monday, when it had reached a height of thirty feet above low water mark, a point not before reached for years.

A telegram from Roseburg informs us that the Douglas county Republican convention nominated the following ticket: Senators, [illegible] W. Colvig, Jesse Applegate; representatives, E. A. Kirkpatrick, W. F. [illegible], W. P. [illegible], M. M. Melvin; clerk, [illegible] Williams; sheriff, J. Noble; treasurer, S. K. Hays; school superintendent, J. Howard.

The Benton Democrat says: [illegible] Cooper, the Yaquina mail carrier, we learn that the schooner [illegible] chartered to carry lumber from the Oneatta mills, had arrived at Newport, and was sailing for the bay when the mail boat left Newport on Monday. [illegible] brings a [illegible] cargo of merchandise for the merchants on the bay, and will [illegible] load with lumber and sail on her return trip.

At a meeting of the citizens of Benton county, convened on the 15th inst., to take into consideration the construction of a canal from some point on the Long Tom or the Willamette river to terminate at Corvallis, a committee was appointed, with power to adopt articles of incorporation, with such capital as may be required to construct said canal, and that they cause such preliminary examinations of the several routes and lines as may be necessary.

The Coos county Democratic nominations are as follows: Joint Senator for the counties of Coos and Curry, Major Brown; Representative for Coos county, R. H. Rosa; County Commissioners, Wm. Tuggin, [illegible] Spurgeon; County Clerk, W. H. Jackson; Sheriff, A. G. Aiken; Treasurer, John Flanagan; Assessor, J. J. Cawfield; School Superintendent, J. Cocke; Surveyor, W. Hall; Coroner, C. B. Golden. The following named gentlemen were elected to the State Convention: John Flanagan, A. Labree, J. M. Siglin, R. H. Rosa and S. H. Hazard.

A private letter from Jackson county to the Democrat, dated since the county convention, says the Democracy of Jackson are decidedly opposed to the State convention making the nominations for electors and Congressman before the National convention meets, because of the uncertainty as to who may be candidates for President and Vice President and what the financial planks of the national platform may contain, and also because the tenets and preference for candidate for Congress may not have been canvassed or considered.

Examining the Collector's Accounts.

The Supervisor of Internal Revenue, Hawley, with special revenue agents, are still engaged in the examination of the accounts of Collector Sedgwick. It is denied that any significance is attached to the suddenness of the descent upon the Collector's office, as that proceeding is in accordance with custom, except that the examination is usually [illegible] after the closing of business in the afternoon. The Senate Chinese Commission.

The Senate Chinese Commission met this morning, but owing to the absence of the interpreter for the examination of Chinese witnesses they have as yet done nothing. Chinese Nuisance.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—The first witness examined by the Senate commission this morning was D. C. Woods, superintendent of the Industrial School. His testimony was important, as showing the effects of Chinese prostitution.

The president of the Yan Wo Company, an intelligent looking Chinaman, was then examined. On Thursday he was delegated to confer with the heads of the other five companies and learn from them whether the Chinese are willing to abandon their present quarters. The object of his reappearance this morning was to tell the commission that the Chinese have consulted on the matter and will not move. Their business interests alone would prevent them from doing so voluntarily. In reply to Mr. Pierson he stated that [illegible] of Chinatown real estate is owned by Chinese merchants.

The interpreter, who is the inspector of the Yan Wo Company, was then sworn. He has resided [illegible] years in California and last December [illegible] his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. He stated there were a number of Chinese who intended to become citizens.

The next deliberative session will be held at the State Capitol next Wednesday. The commission will resume its investigations here on the second Monday in May. In the meantime a competent police officer will collect statistics of the Chinese population and their avocations to aid the Senators in their labors.

WOMEN WITH CLAIMS.—She dresses herself with care. She sees that her garments have the stamp of style, that her hat is becoming, and that the fluffy curls on her forehead are kept exactly in the right place by the pretty dotted veil. If her hands, especially pretty, the right glove is withdrawn, if not, the gloves are stained in all the freshness and smoothness of newness. She has previously arranged with some member for an interview. He comes in answer to her card; they chat and laugh a minute, then he is dispatched for some one to whom she wishes an introduction. The three have a pleasant little talk, then No. 1 takes his leave, and No. 2 sits down to hear the story the lady has to tell. If No. 2 is a new man, unused to the ways of fascinating women, he goes back to his desk with a promise to at least call at the lady's residence. She will see that his call is a tete-a-tete, he will fancy himself specially favored, and when my lady finds an hour coming which is assigned to some other victim she will secure his going so politely and kindly that he is fairly bewitched, and bound to vote for her bill anyway. THE RAILWAY PROPOSITION.

The following is the Winnemucca railway bill proposed by the Central Pacific Co.:

An act to amend an act entitled "An act providing for the construction of the Oregon Central Pacific railway and telegraph line, and to provide for the carriage, by railway, of troops and munitions of war of the State and to make appropriation therefor," approved October 22, 1874, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, A corporation known as the Oregon Central Pacific Railway Company was duly incorporated on the 16th day of [illegible] 1874, and articles of said incorporation filed in the office of Secretary of State in conformity to law providing for the construction of a railway and telegraph line from a point at or near Winnemucca, on the Central Pacific railroad, in the State of Nevada, to the waters of the Columbia river, Oregon.

AND WHEREAS, For good and sufficient reasons, the said company has not been enabled to carry out and complete the said railroad as contemplated in said articles of incorporation and said act to which this is amendatory.

AND WHEREAS, It is of the utmost importance to the people of Oregon that said road should be built as speedily as possible, in order to form a direct connection with the Atlantic seaboard and the intermediate States and Territories in order to promote the construction thereof.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: Section 1. That the said Oregon Central Pacific Railway Company is hereby authorized to amend its articles of incorporation, and to change the name and style thereof to the Oregon and Central Pacific Railroad Company, and to file said amended articles in conformity to law, and to retain and preserve all the rights, grants, privileges and immunities formerly made to it.

Section 2. And the act entitled "An act providing for the construction of the Oregon Central Pacific Railway and Telegraph Line, and to provide for the carriage, by railway, of troops and munitions of war of this State and to make appropriations therefor, approved October 22, 1874, be and is hereby so amended as to authorize the said Oregon and Central Pacific Railroad Company, its successors or assigns, to lay out, locate, construct, maintain, operate and enjoy peaceable possession and use of a continuous line of railroad and telegraph line from the point of beginning on the main line of the Central Pacific Railroad within one hundred miles of the Winnemucca station, in the State of Nevada, thence by the most direct and eligible route, to be determined by said company after actual survey, to a point of intersection with the railroad of the Oregon and California Railroad Company, not farther north than the Eugene City station, in the State of Oregon, and thence to the city of Portland in said State by such route as may be deemed practicable by said company, with branches or extensions to the Columbia river, and shall, upon filing said amended articles, become vested with all the rights, powers, privileges and immunities necessary to carry into effect the purposes of the act.

Sec. 3. Said company is hereby further authorized and empowered to acquire by purchase or otherwise, on such terms as may be agreed upon by the parties in interest, the franchises, grants, titles heretofore made, or which may hereafter be made to the Oregon Central Pacific Railroad Company, the Oregon and California Railroad Company, or either of them, and said rights shall be and are hereby confirmed unto it, and it is also authorized and empowered to merge, consolidate and amalgamate the organizations, properties, capital stock and debts of the said companies, or either of them, due regard being had to existing liens thereon, or to lease and operate the same on such terms, and by such arrangements as shall be agreed upon between the respective companies.

Sec. 4. There be and is hereby granted to said company the right of way through any lands belonging to the State of Oregon, of the width of one hundred feet on each side of the centre line of said road, and the necessary grounds for stations, depots, shops, side-tracks, turn-tables and water stations, wharves and warehouses, not exceeding forty acres at any one place, and also the necessary springs and right of way to take water used in the operating of said road, and the right to take from the lands of the State adjacent to the line of the route, timber, stone, water or other materials necessary for the construction of said road.

Sec. 5. The said company shall have at all times the right to purchase from the State any unsold and unoccupied lands belonging thereto on payment of the minimum rates per acre established by law.

Sec. 6. Said railroad and telegraph lines, with the equipment, structures and appurtenances thereto belonging, and other property of the said company, situate and lying within the State of Oregon, shall be exempt from all taxes, whether of State, county, municipal or local character or authority, until the net earnings remaining after the payment of all expenses of operation, administration, repairs and maintenance, and the interest and sinking fund payments upon its debts shall exceed the sum of ten per centum per annum on the capital stock of the company, and thereafter it shall bear only such assessment and tax as is laid by general laws applicable alike to all other real and personal property within the State.

Sec. 7. Said company may issue its bonds secured by mortgage or trust deed conveying its franchises, lands and other property, payable at such times and places as it may elect, and bearing interest not exceeding eight per cent per annum in gold coin or other lawful money in such sums as it may from time to time deem necessary.

Sec. 8. And the said company whenever required to do so by the proper officers of the State, for a period of thirty years from and after the acceptance of the provisions of this act by the company, shall transport and convey over their said railroad, branches and extensions, from station to station, all public messengers, convicts or prisoners going to or from the State prison, lunatics going to or from the lunatic asylum and the officers in charge thereof, and also articles intended for public exhibition at the fair of the State Agricultural Society, and to be returned therefrom, upon the production of satisfactory evidence thereof, to and from said exhibitions, and also, in case of war, invasion or insurrection, as well as at other times, the troops and munitions of war belonging to the State of Oregon and under the charge of officers appointed therefor, at such rates as may be [illegible] possible on account of such transportation there shall be appropriated and paid from the treasury to the said company or its authorized agents, the sum [illegible] at the time and in the manner herein provided; and the said Oregon and Central Pacific Railroad Company is hereby authorized and empowered to execute and [illegible] at any time hereafter three thousand bonds of said company in sums of one thousand dollars each, bearing interest at seven per centum per annum, with [illegible] semi-annual coupons attached, and secured by a mortgage on one hundred miles of its railroad in the State of Oregon, [illegible] with the [illegible] franchises [illegible] and [illegible] said bonds [illegible] the [illegible] and the [illegible] and [illegible] that the [illegible] of said [illegible] shall be [illegible] Whenever [illegible] of the said company [illegible] twenty [illegible] of said railroad has been constructed and put in running order, the treasurer shall, upon the request of the said railroad company, countersign six hundred of said bonds until five of such sections have been constructed and the bonds therein countersigned, and the bonds shall be dated and [illegible] be sold from the treasury [illegible] the interest payments made thereon, designating them by sections Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, and shall cause said coupons to be canceled when paid, and a record thereof to be kept, which shall be open for inspection at all times to the governor, controller, or any committee appointed therefor by the legislature; and said payments shall be deemed to be a full and sufficient compensation for said services, and no other or further liability shall accrue to the State within the period mentioned for or on account of any interest payments, nor at any time on account of the principal sum of said bonds, which shall be paid by said railroad company at maturity.

Sec. 9. And the city of Portland or the county of Multnomah, or either of them, are hereby authorized and empowered to subscribe to the capital stock or bonds of said company, and to issue their bonds or other evidences of debt in payment or exchange therefor on such terms as may be agreed upon, to an amount not exceeding one million dollars in all, bearing interest at rates not exceeding eight per cent per annum, and to levy a tax to pay the interest and principal of said bonds at maturity.

Sec. 10. And the grants and considerations herein contained are made upon the condition that the said company, on its part, shall begin the surveys upon said road during the current year 1876, and shall have not less than twenty consecutive miles completed and in running order within this State, or forty miles within the State of Nevada, within one year from the 1st day of July, 1877, and not less than twenty miles in Oregon, or forty miles in Nevada, in each year thereafter, and the whole line, from an intersection with the Central Pacific Railroad in Nevada, to a connection with one of the aforementioned roads in Oregon within ten years thereafter.

Sec. 11. And the said company is hereby authorized and empowered to make and establish from time to time such tariffs of charges and tolls for the conveyance of passengers and freights from point to point over said roads under its control and management as it may deem just and necessary, without interference or dictation from the legislature or other officers of this State, and no law shall be passed or enforced to fix or regulate the rate of freights or fares on said railroads until the sum of the net earnings remaining, after payment of expenses of operation, maintenance, administration and the interest and sinking fund payments on its debts shall exceed the sum of ten per centum per annum on its capital stock; Provided, however, That the said company shall not be entitled at any time, to charge upon passengers and freights passing over its said road, already constructed, or to be hereafter constructed, any higher rates per mile than may be charged at the same times, for like articles on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, to or from points in Nevada or Utah, and shall issue through bills of lading on any goods or merchandise passing to and from its Western terminus on the Columbia or Willamette rivers, to cities on the Atlantic coast or Mississippi valley, at rates not exceeding those charged to or from San Francisco, by rail, with the charge made by other ocean and land lines from San Francisco to said terminus, added thereto.

Sec. 12. All acts and parts of acts in consistent with the provisions hereof, are hereby repealed.

...norous Senator of the Raphael eyes perpetrated the latter satire of advising the Republican State Convention to pass a resolution endorsing Grant's administration and now before the malicious laugh of the enemies of the President occasioned by that wicked poke at him has fairly subsided the organ returns to the charge with this cruel but cruel thrust: "President Grant's two terms show ability to govern and honesty of purpose not excelled in the history of the Republic."

No one will accuse us we presume of undue partiality for President Grant but a feeling of charity and humanity if not a sense of justice prompts us to enter a protest against the course of Mr. Mitchell in pursuing him from day to day with this merciless satire and ridicule.

NOTES AND QUERIES

What is the correct pronunciation of the names Schenck and Schurz?

Both names are German. Schenck should probably be pronounced Shenck, but common usage has fixed it Skenck. Schurz is pronounced Shurtz, with the u only a little shorter than in sure.

The author of the lines beginning "Oh why should the spirit of mortal be proud," was William Knox, a poet of Scotland, who died in 1825. This poem was a favorite one of the late President Lincoln, who repeated it on one occasion to Carpenter the artist, whilst sitting for his portrait, and expressed a strong desire to know the name of the author, which however the painter was unable to give.

The line, "Tides are painted fair to look like thee," is misquoted. It should read, "Angels are painted fair to look like you." It is to be found in Otway's Venice Preserved, in a speech of Jaffier to Belvidera. He says:

Oh woman, lovely woman, nature made thee
To temper man: we had been brutes without you
Angels are painted fair to look like you
There's in you all that we believe of heaven,
Amazing brightness, purity and truth,
Eternal joy and everlasting love.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

Oregon Reports, vol. IV. C. B. Bellinger, Reporter. A. L. Bancroft & Co., S. F.

The fourth volume of Oregon Reports has been issued from the publishing house of A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco. It is the most creditable by far of all the volumes hitherto issued. The reporter has done his work with thoroughness and taste. The points decided by the court in each case are accurately and perspicuously stated in the syllabus and the points made by counsel are better presented than in any of the preceding volumes. This volume, unlike the third, contains only reports of cases determined in the Supreme Court.

The Herzegovinian insurgents are tolerably well supplied with small arms, but have very few cartridges to use with them. They also need cannon, specially light mountain pieces. As the Porte seems to be getting obstinate, and unwilling to carry out faithfully the terms of the Andrassy settlement, and as, in case it should fail to carry them out, the great Powers would interfere in favor of the insurgents, the prospects of the Herzegovinians for ultimate independence are brightening. Besides, the most of the insurgents are Christians of Sclave origin, and are allied both by religion and blood with the Russians, while a natural enmity exists between the latter and the Turks. Even if there was no other reason for taking the part of the insurgents, the Russians would find one in the long cherished desire for the possession of the Bosphorus. Impelled therefore by a triple motive, the Russians will hardly let slip the first favorable opportunity to strike a blow in defense of her religion, in aid of her kinsmen and in furtherance of her political designs.

Notwithstanding the failure of the effort of the friends of Governor Hayes, of Ohio, to pass through the State Convention a resolution instructing the delegates to the National Republican Convention to support him for President, it is said the delegation will be nearly or quite unanimous for him, and will stand by him so long as there appears to be any reasonable hope of his nomination. Hayes will hardly be the nominee of the Convention, but he has nevertheless considerable strength not in Ohio alone but throughout the country; that is, there is a very general feeling that he would be a good candidate. While it can not be said that he is a man of national pre-eminence, he is universally regarded as a man who could be trusted both for ability and integrity in the office of Chief Magistrate.

Gen. Custer, who recently made serious charges against Secretary Belknap and Gen. Merrill, seems to be losing the credit which he had at first with the Investigating Committee. When asked to substantiate certain of his statements he offered to do so by reading a letter from a person whose name he would not reveal. The committee seem, from that moment, to have lost faith in Custer, as they naturally would.

The Republican ticket nominated at the Marion county convention yesterday is said to be a very excellent one. We are personally acquainted with several of the candidates, and can say that if the rest are of the same sort the people of that county have a ticket this time which they can afford to support.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton of Salem.

2,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem, and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again. THOMAS CROSS.

NO MORE BALDNESS!

MRS. S. LORD, AGENT FOR OREGON AND Washington for Mrs. Moore's Great Scientific HAIR PRODUCER, would announce to ladies and gentlemen who desire the personal adornment of a fine suit of hair, that she has opened parlors for its express treatment. They are emphatically assured she possesses the skill to produce a full crop of hair on all stages of baldness. A few treatments will convince the most skeptical that this is no exaggeration. Weak, decaying and falling hair made strong, healthy and vigorous. No mineral or damaging substances used or disagreeable methods. On the contrary the treatment is pleasant and soothing, bringing the scalp rapidly into a natural healthful tone, and furnishing the proper elements to the bulbs and hair, which is produced in a surprisingly short space of time. Hair guaranteed in all cases where the directions are faithfully followed. Ladies and gentlemen are invited to call at her Parlors and examine photographs of prominent men taken before and after treatment, which must remove skepticism. Most satisfactory proof furnished. Parlors No. 16, third floor, First National Bank Building, First st., above Washington, Portland. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington. ap1d&w

CITY.

MISSING MAN FOUND --Yesterday after[noon] a messenger reached this city from Fay[ette] bringing intelligence of the finding [of the] missing Frenchman Joseph Boulanger [concer]ning whose mysterious disappearance [much] has been written The messenger [was dis]patched post haste after Boulanger was [found] and consequently was unable to give [full d]etails. Sufficient, however is known [that] he was found alive but wounded in the [throat] not a great distance from his cabin [that] a deep gash was cut across his throat. [When] found he appeared quite rational at [first, tho]ugh very weak from the effect of his [wound] and from hunger and exposure He [was qu]estioned, but declined to answer any [questions] and desired that Mr Lesseur an [old] friend of his, should be sent for Lens[seur] being in Portland the messenger was [dis]patched for this city About 10 o'clock [yesterday] afternoon Mr Lesseur accompan[ied] by Dr Kinney and Deputy District Attor[ney] Geo. H Durham, started for Mr Dabe's [place] where Boulanger is stopping for the [present. It] is not known whether the Frenchman [will] recover, and for that reason Mr [Durham] accompanied the others to take Bou[langer]'s ante-mortem deposition if he had [been] dealt with foully

DIPLOMAS.--Mr. A. H. Morgan, of the board [of sch]ool directors, showed us yesterday a [specimen] of the diplomas to be awarded [the gra]duates of the High school which have re[cently] been received from the East One hun[dred] of these diplomas were ordered, which, [it] is thought, will last for several years These [diplomas] are fine specimens of the lithographic [art], and although not printed on the trad[itional] "sheepskin," are of very fine flexible [paper] and will last nearly as long Last year [the] pupils graduated from the High school [but] no diplomas were awarded as the di[rectors] had none suitable at the time Since [they] arrived the blanks have been filled by [the re]spective names of the graduates and as [soon as] the diplomas are signed by the Prin[cipal of] the High school and directors they [will be] distributed Mr W Lynn White the [skill]ed penman, has filled the blanks in [his us]ual skillful manner. The names of the [gradu]ates are Miss Julia A Adams Miss [Ida] P Kinds, Miss Cecil E Beebe Miss Mat[tie] Bingow and Master Horace B Thielsen

[SOUTH] ISLANDERS' WEAPONS --Dr C H [Raffety] of East Portland, has lately received [from] San Francisco a number of rare curiosi[ties all] of which has been added to his exten[sive] cabinet. Among these articles we ob[served] various kinds of spears, and two genu[ine] "boomerangs." These articles were ob[tained] in San Francisco by the doctor's broth[er, Dr] Raffety, and came on a vessel from [one] of the Australian group of islands It is [said] they were procured from the natives of [the] island. Both the spears and boomer[angs] appear to have been used considerably [and] have doubtless seen much service in [tribal] warfare, offensive and defensive, [among] those fierce and barbarous tribes, and [in] destroying animals for subsistence [These] articles are on exhibition at the drug [store] where they can be inspected by those [having] curiosity to gratify.

OREGON MEDICAL SOCIETY --The regular [meeting] of the Medical Society of the State of [Oregon] comes on the first Monday in June [next], the day of the State election, and as but [few] members from a distance would be likely [to att]end it has been suggested that those [presen]t should adjourn till the fifth of the [follo]wing month, when a good attendance [cou]ld be secured, and the members have [an] opportunity to participate in the [Fou]rth of July centennial celebration [to] which they have been invited. They [wou]ld endeavor to reach Portland on the 3d [of] July. All members and medical men at[tend]ing the meeting, on paying full fare to [Portla]nd, will be returned free upon a cer[tifica]te of the permanent secretary over the [follo]wing routes: O S N. Co , Willamette [Transportatio]n and Lock Co , O C R R and [the] O & C. R. R.

THE OREGONIAN JUNIOR PRIZE.--The papers [state] that at the annual exhibition of the [sophomore class] of the Junior class, held at [Forest Gro]ve, [Pacific Univ]ersity, March 30th, the first [prize] of $10 in coin was awarded to S Lewis [Eaton], [a] brother of the pastor of the [Congregational] church of this city The [Independent] says: "The first prize was award[ed] [with] very little delay The [decision] we believe, gave general satisfaction, [with] the exception of Mr Kimball's piece [entitled] 'Truth,' there were none which ap[proached] closely to the prize oration And the [Independent] adds "When the result [was announced] the happy writer was elevated [upon the] shoulders of his classmates, and [hurrahed] three times three This ranks as [the] [highest] literary honor of the course the [second] medal of the senior year being the [first.]

I. O. O F ANNIVERSARY --The fifty seventh [anniversary] of the I. O. O F in the United [States] will be celebrated in this city on next [Wednesday] evening, April 26th at the Odd [Fellows'] Temple, by a reunion of all the [lodges] in this city and East Portland and the [Encam]pment. The exercises will consist of [a cere]mony as prescribed by the Grand [Lodge] of the United States following which [there] will be several addresses by members of [the o]rder, interspersed by vocal and instru[mental] music. Invitations will be extended [to] [friends] outside of the order.

[A CHIL]D LOST.--Myrtle Morrill, a little girl [of about] 3 years, whose parents reside at [the corner] of Tenth and Montgomery streets, [strayed] away from her home yesterday after[noon] about 4 o'clock. She was soon missed, [and] the alarmed parents began to search for [the little] wanderer. A number of the neigh[bors join]ed in the search and the police were [notified] but up to a late hour last evening [there] were no tidings of the truant The [child] had on white stockings, a faded, light [colored] calico apron, light yellowish hat, and [brown] hair

NO INDIAN TROUBLES THREATENED.

GEN HOWARD RECEIVES A LETTER CONTRADICTING THE REPORT OF THREATENED INDIAN DIFFICULTIES

Gen Howard received the following letter yesterday from John Simms United States Indian agent at Fort Colville, from which it will appear that no apprehensions need be felt of an Indian outbreak, one of the Walla Walla papers to the contrary notwithstanding The letter is dated April 9 and the writer says

Sir I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 27th ult in which I am advised that you learn from the Walla Walla Spirit that a number of discontented Indian warriors had left their homes on the Spokane to join the Sioux in the strife against the whites, and request me to inform you if there is any truth in the rumor

In reply I would respectfully state that I have reason to know that there is not the slightest foundation for the above report There is scarcely a day but I hear from the Spokane Indians and no such information as the above has come to my knowledge One of the Spokane chiefs was here last week to see me, and reported his people all well, and quite a number returning from Walla Walla and other places, where they have been spending the winter

A few of the Spokanes, Coeur d'Alenes and Pend d'Oreilles go to the buffalo country every fall, most of them returning again as far as the Jocko reservation in Montana where they remain over winter and get back home in May This fact may have given rise to the rumor referred to

I believe it to be highly improbable that the Sioux will ever find an ally in the Spokanes or in any of the other tribes belonging to this agency

DOUGLAS COUNTY

THE DEMOCRATS GET A BAD SEND OFF

ROSEBURG Or April 20 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The unterrified Democracy of Douglas county met at this place yesterday pursuant to order and proceeded to place in the field a genuine crooked whisky ticket After the usual preliminary skirmishing it was easy for the casual observer to see how the cat was to jump The crooked whisky ring under the command of Boss Tweed with a full corps of marshals as follows Grizzly Old Mosher little Van of the Old Martin A coalition with aidecamps too numerous to mention were actively engaged and as the Bourbons got away with the spoils of office so far as nominations were to go First the battle was waged upon delegates to the State convention which are termed Thompson men by the crookeds Judge Burnett's friends being distanced through strategy only The Boss and party previously having been defeated for delegates in convention from their own precincts, took the precaution to gather in all the rotten elements from the extreme sections The Boss having procured one individual proxy and made that count for three one succeeded in bringing up an overpowering force that the honest representatives of the party could not overbalance

It must be admitted that the Boss is a good strategist handles men well and moves and seconds the same at will with a ready snuffing chair Hence why not victory perch upon the banner of the crooked whisky Democracy?

The next thing now on motion is to elect the ticket Forces will have to be drawn from other ranks to carry it through and this cannot be done from the fact that the Independents are pretty firmly set and I suppose Friday will leave the Republicans in a harmonious shape which from the action of yesterday's work in the Bourbon ranks leaves that party a long way in the rear of either the Independents or Republicans And I hear prominent Democrats by the scores who have always acted with that party publicly assert that they will not support the ticket in any shape whatever

Had this convention harmonized and acted judiciously in making a mixed delegation to the State convention, and then proceeded to equally distribute the county ticket throughout the county and thereby placed strong men upon the ticket instead of weak ones which was done you may rest assured the unterrified would have been hard to defeat in Douglas county Now alas! the bird of victory has flown never in this Centennial campaign to return to the Democrats However they have a few good men nominated and may succeed in carrying through a few--but few it will be many To the Republicans and Independents belongs the battle Whisky and Tweedism has had its day in old Douglas, and the people pretty generally are going for the man hereafter In cases where men are controllable by obnoxious rings and crooked whisky such will receive the cold shoulder of the honest thinking voter of all parties

Yours truly
SAMUEL [illegible]

An oyster opener at Toulouse, France found in an oyster a magnificent pearl, worth several thousand dollars and he pocketed it but the person who ordered the oysters insisted that the pearl belonged to him His contention is that shells juice oyster and everything else in the shell are his property The knotty point has been referred to the law courts

"NEW DEPARTURE"

In the "Medical treatment" of Special Diseases is in placing in the hands of the sufferer the Cure and Prevention There seems to be no doubt in the minds of any one of the merit of the "Wightman Process" for the cure of Hemorrhoid and Piles, The letters of Mr J M Bacon P M of Oregon City Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of I O O F and others leaves nothing for me to add I am not an O F and am too old for admission Mr Bacon out of sympathy for those suffering as he had and out of pure kindness of heart wrote his letter not for publication The position he occupies shows he is justly appreciated by his associates I would not use the name of any one were I not positively sure of perfect satisfaction to those that use the process They know the Piles cannot return as they have the instructions and Prevention on hand in the Process and Directions to always prevent them

A Rare Medicinal Combination

Perhaps the rarest certainly the most successful medicinal combination extant is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters In this commanding tonic corrective and preventive are blended some of the most positively invigorating alterative and blood depurating elements in the vegetable kingdom They are held in solution and powerfully aided by the diffusive stimulant known as old rye whisky [illegible] any wonder that easy digestion regular evacuations a natural flow of bile purity of the blood and cheerfulness of mind should be vigorously promoted by a preparation in which such admirable ingredients are most harmoniously combined [illegible] the faith of it by the [illegible] in the restorative efficacy of [illegible] its [illegible] to nullify the [illegible] [illegible] expressed over the signatures of many eminent physicians and their expressions of [illegible] fully ratified by the people and the press

TRUE FREEDOM: HOW TO WIN IT

We want no flag, no flaunting rag,
For Liberty to fight;
We want no blaze of murderous guns,
To struggle for the right.
Our spears and swords are printed words,
The mind our battle plain;
We've won such victories before,
And so we shall again.
We love no triumphs sprung of force—
They stain her brightest cause;
'Tis not in blood that Liberty
Inscribes her civil laws.
She writes them on the people's heart
In language clear and plain;
True thoughts have moved the world before,
And so they shall again.
We yield to none in earnest love
Of Freedom's cause sublime;
We join the cry, "Fraternity!"
We keep the march of Time.
And yet we grasp no spike nor spear
Our victories to obtain;
We've won without their aid before,
And so we shall again.
We want no aid of barricade,
To show a front to wrong;
We have a citadel in Truth,
More durable and strong.
Calm words, great thoughts, unflinching faith,
Have never striven in vain;
They've won our battle many a time
And so they shall again.
Peace, progress, knowledge, brotherhood—
The ignorant may sneer,
The bad deny; but we rely
To see their triumph near.
No widow's groan shall load our cause,
No blood of brethren slain;
We've won without such aid before,
And so we shall again. —Charles Mackay.

JOHN THOMPSON: HIS DREAM

A [illegible] STORY

[illegible] a drunken dream, yet a singular one. [illegible] say it was a drunken dream would [illegible] that John Thompson was a [illegible] respectable man. On the contrary he [illegible] wreck, rum soaked, scorched, prematurely withered. By his lamentable failure [illegible] his appetite for gin he had undermined his constitution, worn out his poor wife, and inspired his four little girls [illegible] a kind of bitter cruelty. Ten [illegible] Mr. Thompson dreamed this [illegible]. When he first married the bright [illegible] East girl who lived with him, [illegible] had warned John that there was [illegible] in even moderate drinking, he [illegible] felt insulted and would probably [illegible] if they thought he was a brute [illegible] control his appetite, and yet a [illegible] it was no uncommon thing [illegible] standing, with bleared eyes and [illegible], before Judge Lawton, while [illegible] they inflicted the customary $[illegible] [illegible] of a career like John Thompson's [illegible] necessary to rehearse; they are [illegible]. Let us tell about his dream [illegible] med on New Year's night two [illegible].

[illegible] on that particular night had [illegible] ing in varied pleasures. He was [illegible] workman, and on that day had [illegible] sum of money for work done since [illegible], and had slipped out by the [illegible] of the building where he was em[illegible] [illegible] he knew that his thinly clad [illegible] ing near the front door to see if [illegible] get a little money of him to [illegible] for the children. No doubt [illegible] looked, like a cur, when he [illegible], and no wonder he projected [illegible] great velocity into the nearest [illegible] where a bland smile greeted him, [illegible] down two heavy doses in quick [illegible]. Then he felt a little better.

"[illegible] woman," he said to the bartender, "[illegible] a man's [illegible]"

"[illegible]," answered the bartender, "[illegible] you make the old woman work [illegible]"

"[illegible] one," said John, and pouring [illegible] drink, which seemed as though [illegible] have choked him—as it ought to have—[illegible] this was the lowest point John [illegible] ever reached, and [illegible] was low [illegible] the short cropped rum seller [illegible] villain as he probably was, felt a [illegible] for John, when he spoke thus [illegible] hard working wife, and took little [illegible] conceal it, and Mr. Thompson was [illegible] intoxicated not to notice this, and [illegible] while him was expressing [illegible] feelings, something like a burning [illegible] altogether born of alcohol, came over [illegible], and he left the shop abruptly [illegible] desire uppermost in his mind to [illegible] in the oblivion of whisky as quick[illegible]. But as he walked to the [illegible] [illegible] kept dinging in his ears [illegible] her fingers are worn with [illegible] her eyes are dim with [illegible] brain is weary with [illegible] now who is [illegible] But John [illegible] [illegible] statements and [illegible] try to justify [illegible] within himself [illegible] wall, [illegible] what does a [illegible] ought [illegible] serve."

[illegible] in spite [illegible] attitude [illegible] own conscience [illegible] on Mr [illegible]'s part, a more likely desire to reach [illegible] of drunken unconsciousness than he [illegible] known before. He poured down the [illegible] eager rapidity, treated all that de[illegible] treated (and they were many) and [illegible] reckless about the change. Before [illegible] that night, the voice of conscience [illegible] roared from the mouth of a ten [illegible] and John, so far from being moved or [illegible] would have returned a bland and [illegible]. But the voice was quite silent [illegible] particular hour we mentioned indeed, [illegible] was engaged in a sport peculiar [illegible] to a gentleman in his condition [illegible] was in a shooting gallery and saloon [illegible], where they were shooting for [illegible] and Mr. Thompson's shots had produced amusement by their grotesque in[illegible], the bullets apparently describing a [illegible] curve of which it would have [illegible] Descartes to determine the locus. So [illegible] pleased, indeed, were the company [illegible], with great fertility of invention, [illegible] thought themselves of a practical joke [illegible] know," said the proprietor to his boy, "[illegible] turkey that died in the coop yester[illegible]"

"[illegible]," said the boy.

"[illegible]," said the proprietor, "stuff it with [illegible] and let John take it home to his family [illegible] in all probability, haven't had one for [illegible]"

[illegible] informed John when the dubunct [illegible] was stuffed, that he had won a turkey, [illegible] he might have after treating them, and [illegible] treated them with the last money he [illegible] John departed with his prize, reflecting, [illegible] staggered along, that the present of a [illegible] would make it "all right" with the [illegible] woman—the "old woman" who was [illegible] on the meager straw bed thinking what [illegible] world she would do—for the grocery [illegible] running up, the coal was 'most' gone [illegible] paid for, the children's feet were on [illegible] ground, and "John was drunk again [illegible] drunk for the last time, for, as the [illegible] struck 12 or shortly before, John [illegible] a dream.

[illegible] perhaps, 11 o'clock when Mr. T cast [illegible] upon his bed in the attic, which, like all [illegible] of his house, was of a primitive kind [illegible] tick stuffed with 50 cents' worth of rye [illegible] wholesome, indeed, but very democratic [illegible] for a while, he knew nothing more [illegible] only as his vitals labored under [illegible] he had taken, but after [illegible] strange shapes seemed to flit [illegible] he felt cold, a queer con[illegible] of being in some strange place [illegible] of him, and a hazy light [illegible] him strange sights. Big icicles jumped [illegible] his legs, and [illegible] walked solemnly [illegible] at him with their wooden [illegible] pointing at him with their broom [illegible]; he heard the jingle of unearthly [illegible] and the scraping of unearthly snow [illegible] as the spectral sidewalks were being [illegible] off; then, suddenly, a great ring of [illegible] borealis blazed up with purple light, and John saw, seated on a glittering throne of [illegible], old King Winter himself with heavy [illegible] and snow garments with fringed [illegible] breath, while around him stood [illegible] of his courtiers armed with long, sharp icicles for spears. Beside the ice king's throne stood, leaning upon a staff, a worn and hoary man, bent nearly double with wrinkled face of infinite severity, who gazed on John, while on the other side stood a fair and rosy boy with a little scepter in his hand, who also looked on John. "That [illegible]

Old Year, whom in a general way, you have known for very near twelve months."

"And I," said Old Year in a wheezy broken [illegible] I have known you Mr. Thompson [illegible] I hope [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

"It's because you're a dastardly coward," roared the Old Year [illegible]

[illegible]

At this command the earth opened with a loud cracking sound and a battalion of frozen imps jumped forth with words of [illegible] cold frigidity, and they danced around John Thompson and their cold breath burned him like hot iron, and they touched him with their wands and [illegible] [illegible] and there was no [illegible] escape.

"Will you promise never to drink again," said the Ice King. "Will you?"

"I will [illegible] help me," cried John Thompson in agony, and immediately the imps desisted and ranged themselves all around, and John Thompson looking up saw that the hands of the big clock over the throne of the Ice King were upon the figure of 12. The [illegible] moment the [illegible] struck and the Old Year trembled and closed his eyes while two ice men supported him, as the strokes continued the Old Year was let gradually down backward, and when the twelfth had struck he was completely on his back, while the rosy youth who was the New Year, for New Years are always born mature enough to perform their functions, waved his hand in token of [illegible] and smiled on John. The next moment there was a tremendous crash and Mr. T found himself awake and remarkably sober, while the clock in the city hall tower (which was always a little behind) was just striking 1.

"Thunder!" said Mr. Thompson, "what a time I have had!"

Just then he became aware that his family below were moving about, and presently a light on the stairs approached his room; the light was carried by his wife, who was followed by a series of little girls symmetrically graded as to height. In the hands of the oldest of them, some nine years old, was borne triumphantly the turkey which John had won.

"I think, John," said his wife, "the least you could do when you came home like this is not to rouse the neighbors. You have been screaming and shouting for this last ten minutes as though the fiend had got you."

"And the fiend will get him, won't he, mamma?" chimed in one of the medium sized daughters, "because he's a bad man and won't give us any money."

"But he's going to be a good papa now," said the oldest, "he's brought home a turkey for New Year's."

At this John's glance [illegible] upon the bird, from whose body in several places protruded the straw with which it was stuffed, and a dim recollection of the evening's performance came [illegible] and he turned over on his bed and [illegible] [illegible] children [illegible] all right."

And these having departed John spent the rest of the night making good resolutions in snatches of fitful sleep, in thinking of his previous career, of his present weakness, of his gloomy future, with an occasional prayer. "O God! if there be a God," answer seemed to come with unvarying monotony, "Help yourself, suffer and be helped."

When morning came, however, John Thompson was a changed man; changed in that he recognized something of the difficulty and hardness of his position, in that his heart had been touched, in that he was resolved to endure something for something to be gained. He made no observations about reform to his wife, merely said he would try and get her some money soon, but she noticed with a queer surprise that he betrayed a singular curiosity about the household affairs, seemed anxious about the coal, the rent and a variety of things which had troubled John Thompson very little for some years past. He also inquired about the precise date of her birthday, which struck her as a most singular proceeding. He found that this event was about three months distant. Going to his work that morning John soliloquized:

"That is where I have always made my mistake. In not being able to bear, in not counting the cost of reform, in thinking to get up without pain, in wanting something for nothing. Fool that I was! Now, if it tears my vitals out, I will conquer."

Notwithstanding this valiant boast, however, John went to a physician that day and inquired of him whether there was anything that would destroy the appetite for drink. The sum of that gentleman's remarks was this:

"You must cultivate and develop the will power; it will grow if you stimulate it. It will in time balance the objectionable tendency, and if you persevere you will conquer, but it will cost you effort, pain."

"Just what the Old Year said," thought John, "the same old story; well, let the pangs come, the sharper the better."

Oh! when a man makes up his mind to this the battle is more than half won.

John resolved to tell no one as yet of his new reservation, but on his wife's next birthday, in three months' time, if he had kept the faith, he would tell her, and great would be her joy. In the meantime he would so arrange appearances that she should not more than suspect and hope that new and brighter days had come.

We will not bore the reader with the details of John Thompson's struggle, his solitary struggle, his bitter struggle; but for him it was a [illegible] bloody sweat. Having started with the idea that the job he was about to do would be costly, he was not disappointed. For two whole nights he slept not a wink, and only by brief snatches for a week. His nerves became unstrung; he feared he should drop in a fit; his hands trembled and his work was imperfectly done, insomuch that his employer reprimanded him severely, solemnly warning him that his habits had all but completed his ruin, never dreaming that his peculiar [illegible] and [illegible] tremor were the results of a bitter internal struggle. At the end of three weeks John Thompson [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Winter King was right: it was all a matter of [illegible] the bearing of pain.

[illegible]

His nerves soon began to recover from their [illegible] prostration, and he began to look forward to his wife's next birthday and to prepare for her a little or rather a great surprise. To some extent, indeed, he was already surprised. She had noticed with strange trembling joy, that not only did her husband's breath not betray the everlasting rum, but that he grew kinder every day.

On the 31st anniversary of Mrs Thompson's birthday John proceeded to the savings bank and drew therefrom the sum of $75, which he had [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] He is becoming a useful man; there is a savings bank book in his [illegible]. His children are now able to attend the sabbath school regularly. John's own name is on the books of the church of which his wife has long been a member. He is usually quite orthodox in his belief, but [illegible] [illegible] but he reads the New Testament a good deal, and it is the opinion of many that he endeavors to shape his life in accordance with the golden [illegible]

On this particular New Year's night [illegible] said to his wife:

"Mary, I am going to sleep [illegible] the attic chamber where I slept a year ago to-night. This is a particular occasion [illegible]"

"Well," said his wife, "I hope the ghosts won't trouble you."

John's face changed color at this remark of Mrs Thompson's, but she did not observe it, and shortly after he took the candle and retired. It was at 11 o'clock.

"If they come," he said, "it won't probably be before 12 o'clock."

John made this remark just as he turned down the lamp and [illegible] into bed, and that was about the last he knew till the noise of the children below awoke him the next morning. He had passed a dreamless night in sound sleep. No Winter King nor Old Year nor New Year had troubled him, no ghost nor devil, for he had slept the calm sleep of health and temperance. The sunbeams streamed in through the window (for John was not at work that day and had slept later) and he saw the sun himself looking quite old fashioned and unghostlike.

"It was all a drunken dream," said John after a moment's musing, "and nothing else, and yet there was a grain of immortal truth in it."

And so John Thompson went down to breakfast.—Jacob [illegible] in [illegible] Daily Union.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship John L. Stephens for Oregon will sail from San Francisco for Portland to-morrow.

The steamship Gussie Telfair from Puget Sound and Victoria arrived last night. Her cargo is principally coal.

The San Francisco Commercial Herald says: We hear very little said about forward charters for the new crop in July, August and September, but believe that a score or more of ships have been secured here and abroad for wheat of the new crop to the United Kingdom upon a basis of £3 [illegible] direct port. There is however no apparent anxiety to "go chartering" at high water after the dear bought experience of the past. Shippers on this coast are now deciding to feel their way and to wait for further developments to see how the crops and prices are likely to rule sixty days hence.

SATURDAY MORNIN[illegible] APRIL [illegible]

TRUE FREEDOM [illegible]

We want no [illegible]
For [illegible]
We want [illegible]
To struggle for [illegible]
Our speech and words [illegible]
The [illegible]
We've won [illegible]
And so we shall [illegible]
We love not [illegible]
They stain [illegible]
'Tis not in blood that [illegible]
Inscribe her [illegible]
She writes them on the people's [illegible]
In language [illegible]
'Tis [illegible]
And so [illegible] shall [illegible]
We yield to none [illegible] love
Of Freedom's [illegible]
We join [illegible]
We keep the march of time
And yet we grasp no spike [illegible]
Our victories to attain
We've won without [illegible]
And so we shall [illegible]
We want no aid of [illegible]
To show [illegible]
We have a steadfast [illegible]
More durable and [illegible]
Calm words, great [illegible]
Have never strive [illegible]
They've won our [illegible]
And so they shall again.
Peace, progress, knowledge, brotherhood
The ignorant may sneer,
The bad deny; but we [illegible]
To see their triumph near.
No widow's groan [illegible]
No blood of brethren [illegible]
We've won without [illegible]
And so we shall again.

JOHN THOMPSON HIS DREAM

A [illegible]

It was a drunken [illegible]. When we say it was [illegible] to insinuate that [illegible] very respectable [illegible] was a very wreck, [illegible] naturally withered [illegible] to control his appetite [illegible] mined his constitution [illegible] patient wife, and inspired [illegible] with a terrible idea of [illegible] years before Mr. Thompson dreamed the dream. When he first [illegible] buoyant down East [illegible] if anybody had warned John that there was always danger in even moderate drinking he would have felt insulted and would probably have inquired if they thought he was a man who could not control his appetite, and yet a few years later, [illegible] see John stand [illegible] shameful face, before Judge [illegible] that functionary [illegible] But the details of [illegible] son's life is not necessary to [illegible] too common. [illegible] which he dreamed on New Year's [illegible] years ago.

Mr. Thompson on the [illegible] spent his evening [illegible] an excellent woman [illegible] received a sum of money, [illegible] his last "spree," and had [illegible] back door of the building [illegible] ployed, because he knew [illegible] wife was waiting [illegible] she could not get [illegible] buy some flannel for the [illegible] John felt, as he looked, like a [illegible] did this deed, and no wonder he proceeded himself with great velocity into the nearest grog shop, where [illegible] greeted him [illegible] poured down two [illegible] succession. Then he felt a little better.

"Darn a woman," he said to the bartender, "what does a man's [illegible]"

"I should say so," answered the bartender, "[illegible] you make the old woman [illegible] as you do?"

"She's a lazy one," said John, and [illegible] down another drink, which seemed as though it would have choked him, as it ought to have done—and this was the lowest point John Thompson ever reached, and it was low enough. Even the short-cropped [illegible], desperate villain as he probably was, felt a keen contempt for John, when he spoke thus of his poor, hard working wife, and took little pains to conceal it, and Mr. Thompson was not sufficiently intoxicated not to notice this and as a voice within him was expressing toward him similar feelings, something like a burning flush, not altogether born of alcohol, came over his pimply face, and he left the shop abruptly, with one desire uppermost in his mind [illegible] himself in the oblivion of whisky [illegible] ly as possible. But, as he walked to the next saloon, something kept ringing in his ears [illegible] words [illegible] "[illegible] have [illegible] her fingers are worn with [illegible]; her eyes are dim with [illegible]; her brain is weary with [illegible] ty, and now she is standing on the [illegible] waiting for you." But John, though he could not dispute the truth of these statements, did not try to, merely said, within [illegible] "let her wait," [illegible] the woman [illegible] man's footsteps [illegible] she ought [illegible]

Nevertheless in spite of this [illegible] toward his own [illegible] Thompson's part, [illegible] the point of drunken [illegible] had ever known before. [illegible] drink with [illegible] sired to be treated, and they were [illegible] being utterly reckless [illegible] 9 o'clock that night [illegible] might have roared from the [illegible] pounder, and John, so far from being [illegible] disturbed, would have [illegible] tender smile. But [illegible] At the particular [illegible] Mr. Thompson was [illegible] liarly absorbing [illegible] tion. He was in a shooting gallery, and [illegible] combined, where they were shooting for turkeys, and Mr. Thompson's [illegible] ated intense amusement by their [illegible] accuracy, the bullets apparently describing a transcendental curve of which it would have puzzled Descartes to determine the [illegible] very much pleased, indeed, were the [illegible] ny, that, with [illegible] they bethought themselves of a practical joke.

"You know," said the proprietor to his boy, "the sick turkey that died in the coop yesterday?"

"Well," said the boy.

"Well," said the proprietor, "stuff it with straw and let John take it home to his family, which, in all probability, haven't had one for some time."

So they informed John when the [illegible] bird was stuffed, that he had won a turkey, which he might have after treating them, and having treated them with the last money he had, John departed with his prize, reflecting as he staggered along, that the [illegible] turkey would make it all right with the old woman, the "old woman" who was lying on the [illegible] straw [illegible] in the world [illegible] for the grocery bill was running up [illegible] who was paid for [illegible] the ground, and "[illegible]

Yes—drunk for [illegible] clock struck 12, or [illegible] dreamed a dream.

It was, perhaps [illegible] himself upon his bed [illegible] the rest of his house [illegible] being a tick stuffed [illegible] straw—wholesome [illegible]—and, for a while [illegible] ing heavily as [illegible] the stimulants he had taken. [illegible] some time strange [illegible] before him; he felt [illegible] solemness of being [illegible] took possession of [illegible] showed him [illegible]

Old Year, whom in a general way, you have known for very near twelve months."

"And I," said Old Year, in a wheezy, broken [illegible]

[illegible]

"Therefore," said Mr. Thompson, "what [illegible]"

[illegible]

"I [illegible] John," said his wife, "the best you could do [illegible]"

[illegible]

But to be going to be a good papa now, [illegible] brought home a turkey for New Year's."

[illegible]

"Go away, Mary," he said to his wife, [illegible]

[illegible]

On the 31st anniversary of Mrs. Thompson's birthday, John proceeded to the savings bank and drew therefrom the sum of [illegible], which he [illegible]

Alterative

To Purify the Blood use Dr. Jayne's Alterative. It acts directly on the blood, stimulating the absorbents, overcoming the obstinate state of the pores of the skin, and imparting a healthy glow to the Complexion. Pimples, Pustules, Tetter, and Skin Diseases of all kinds, Mercurial Affections, Tumors, and all varieties of complaints arising from depraved or disordered blood, are effectually eradicated by this remedy.

Scrofula in all its Forms is cured by the persistent use of Dr. Jayne's Alterative. It destroys the poisonous principle which originates Scrofula, and ultimately drives it from the system. It will remove enlargements of the Glands or Bones, and is a safe remedy in cases of [illegible] or Sores of all kinds.

Dropsy and Dropsical Sw[illegible] effectually cured by Dr. Jayne's Alterative. By stimulating the action of the absorbents, all [illegible] careous depositions are gradually carried off, toning up the system at the same time, by strengthening the digestive organs and exciting the Liver, Kidneys, &c., to perform their functions. For Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint it has proven a remedy, and it has established cures in cases of Epilepsy. It may be safely relied on by any one needing a medicine to build up the system, cleanse the blood, or to restore the natural action of the Secretive Organs.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage; remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all its ill effects, remember that if you persist, in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you, when the angel of mercy can bring you no relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment $25 00. Send money by Post Office order or Express with full description of case. Call or address
